Seniors Help Edit

This is the senior edition of the Northwest Missourian. The following seniors assisted in editing the paper: Fred O. Street, Helen Qualls, Loretta Jones, Dorothy England, Nellie Ostle, Margaret Mills, June Cozine, Edith Shoemaker, Howard Dennis, John Hathaway, Guy Canaday.

Mabel Long of Grant City is the guest of her sister, Mildred Long, this week.

Lula Meale and her mother were the guests of Charles Meale at Pickering Sunday.

Senior Cane Will Be Presented to Juniors Monday

It has been the custom of the Senior Class for the past fourteen years to present the Juniors with the traditional Senior cane. At the Class Exercises on Monday evening Fred Street, president of the Senior class, will deliver this cane, which represents a sacred trust, to the Junior class. Kenneth Pouts, president of the Junior class will receive it.

This cane carries with it a symbol of leadership and achievement. Every senior class should feel honored to assume the care of this emblem, which so clearly represents the high ideals of our College. Each year a gold band engraved with the class numeral is added to this cane before it is presented to the succeeding class. Now there are fourteen bands on the cane.

This present Senior Class has been faithful in keeping the pledge taken last year when the symbol of responsibility was received, and on Monday evening they will have discharged their obligations.

Opal Wilson spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of her parents at Sheridan.

Dorothy Wallace spent the week-end at her home in Worth, Mo.

Smilin' Through to Be Presented by Senior Class

Scenic and Lighting Effects to Be Attractive Part of Annual Play to Be Given Tomorrow Night in Auditorium.

The Senior class will present "Smilin' Through," a romantic comedy in three acts, by Allan Langdon Martin, as its class play on Saturday night. This promises to be one of the outstanding dramatic events of the year, due to the excellent work done by each of the characters, many of whom have taken part in several other plays, and due to the elaborate care taken in making of the scenery. A great deal of credit is due to Miss Dow who has charge of the directing of the play, and to Miss DeLuce and Mr. Whiffen, who have directed the making of the scenery. The play will be given in the College Auditorium.

"Smilin' Through" begins with a prologue, showing the spirits of Sara Wayne and Mary Clare looking to earth and vainly trying to help their loved ones.

The other three scenes are all laid in a quaint old garden in front of a beautiful old English Queen Anne house. Much care has been taken in making this scene realistic. With the excellent lighting effects that are produced the onlooker is hypnotized into thinking that the scene is real.

The plot of the story is woven around four characters, John Carteret, whose sweetheart was killed at almost the very hour they were to be married; Dr. Owen Harding, a very close friend of Carteret; Kathleen Dunganon, Carteret's niece; and Kenneth Wayne, a son of the man who killed Carteret's sweetheart.

College Chorus Makes Its Final Appearance

Music Group, Directed by Mr. Gardner, Will Take Part in Baccalaureate Sunday Activities.

The College Chorus will make its last public appearance this term, Sunday at the Baccalaureate exercises in the College auditorium, when "He, Watching Over Israel," from Elijah, by Mendelssohn, and "Mighty Jehovah," by Bellini will be sung under the direction of Mr. Gardner.

The chorus has done excellent work this winter, having appeared several times in public programs in Maryville and neighboring towns, and having broadcast from Shenandoah.

A select group of sixty-four voices has made up the chorus this winter. Heretofore, the chorus has been open to anyone and consequently has been much larger. A better quality of work has been accomplished this winter with the smaller group, although some of the effects possible only with a large group have been lacking.

Dykes is chairman of the program committee.

All persons who have not made reservations are urged to do so before 8 o'clock Monday morning. These may be made with Mrs. Marcell or by telephoning the extension office at the College.

WHO'S WHO in the SENIOR CLASS

Fred O. Street, of Maryville, president of the Senior Class, will receive the B. S. degree. Fred has been active in all student functions and activities. He has been a member of Social Science Club, Debating Team, and Eureka Literary Society. He was vice-president of the Junior Class, and Business Manager of the Tower (36).

William McCollough, of Trenton, will take both the B. S. and the A. B. degrees. William is a member of the M. Club and the Social Science Club. He came here from Missouri Wesleyan, last fall, and was a member of the football team here. He has taken an active part in all activities.

Edith Shoemaker, of Darlington, will receive the B. S. degree at the end of the summer quarter. Edith has been a member of the Y. W. C. A., the Philomathean Literary Society, Mathematics and Science Club, and the Choral Club. She has taken an active part in the school activities.

Seniors to Present Painting to College

Gift Not Yet Decided On.—Numerous Paintings Now on Display in the Library.

The Senior Class gift has not been definitely decided upon, but an original painting is to be chosen. Miss DeLuce of the College Art Department has just returned from an art exhibit at Kansas City where she selected some pictures to be brought to Maryville in order that the class might have an opportunity to choose from the best in original paintings. Many pictures are now on display in the library from which group one will probably be chosen.

This select group of pictures has come from Macbeth Art Gallery, New York City, and from exhibits at Chicago, St. Louis and Lindsborg, Kansas. These paintings have all been shown in leading exhibits in the United States and they have in many cases received rewards and favorable comment.

The most outstanding artists of the group are: Jay Connaway, Ben Foster, Walter W. Thompson, E. O. Thalinger, from St. Louis; Della Miller from Kansas City; Coach S. Henry Birger Sandgren from Lindsborg, Kansas; and Irah Marian Kibbey. However, the class expects to choose the painting from the group of Missouri artists. The work of these artists is of such quality that any of the paintings on display will stand the test in any eastern exhibit in the United States or in any foreign display. As these artists promise to be among the famous painters of future days, the College will be very fortunate to receive a painting by one of them.

This gift will be presented by Florida Moore, a member of the Senior Class, on Monday evening at the Class Exercises.

New Regulation for Publishing the Tower Made

Student Council Takes Action Regarding Yearbook.—Editors of This Year and Last Approve New Ruling.

Sophomores will become members of the staff for the "Tower," the College annual, starting next year under the provisions set forth in the regulations governing the publication as recently adopted by the Student Council. Regularly elected officers selected from the Sophomore class each year will aid the Junior class, which has had the task of getting out the year book, to compile the Tower thus making it possible for them, when the duties fall on them as Juniors, to take over the work with more ease and understanding than was allowed by the former arrangement.

While the addition of Sophomores to the Tower staff is probably the most important feature of the new regulations there have been seven other rules laid down.

The regulations follow:
Purpose: In order that the publication of the Student Annual of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College shall be upon a uniform and stable basis, the Student Council hereby adopts this regulation.

I. The name of the Student Annual shall be "The Tower." It shall be published by the Junior Class of the College, and shall be issued to the student body on or near May fifteenth of each year.

II. The total number of copies to be printed, the size of the book, and the total maximum cost shall be determined by the Tower staff, acting with the approval of the Student Council and the President of the College.

III. The price of The Tower shall not exceed three dollars. Coupons in the Student Activity books for that purpose.

Senior Class to Give a Burr Oak to the College

Year by year a tree has been presented to the College by the Senior class as a living memorial, and the Seniors of 1927 will continue that tradition by planting a burr-oak on the College campus.

The class has selected what is perhaps the most common tree in the U. S. Most poets award the kingship among the trees of the world to the long lived, patient, sturdy oak.

As the tree flourishes, rendering service by its shade and beauty to the campus, likewise will the Seniors of 1927 be extending their lives and glorifying their Alma Mater.

This tree is to be planted where its beauty and shade may be most enjoyed. There will be a marker near the tree on which will be carved "Senior Class of 1927." This tree will also be easily distinguished as it is the only burr-oak on the campus at present.

This tree will be presented to the College by Edith Shoemaker at the Class Day exercises.

Helen Sealock spent the week-end at her home in Trenton.

Mildred Long went to Grant City Saturday and Sunday to visit her parents.

Y. Organizations in Final Joint Meeting

Co-Operation for Coming Year Planned at Session Tuesday.—Y. M. C. A. President Presides.

The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. held a joint meeting Tuesday morning in room 122. This was the last meeting of the quarter for these organizations.

The feature of the meeting was a discussion of "The Race Problem," by the members of the two organizations. Summaries were given by Christina Wagner, Katherine Mills, Florence Seat, Gladys Somerville, Mabel Albright, and Frank Tobow.

The organizations planned to co-operate to a greater extent during the next school year. Leland Madeney, president of the Y. M. C. A., presided at the meeting.

May Fete, Given Yesterday, Has Much Ceremony

Event Postponed From Wednesday Because of Rain.—Mereca Williams Crowned Queen Before Large Crowd.

Miss Mereca Williams, a member of the senior class, was crowned Queen of May at the annual Fete held in front of the College Administration Building yesterday afternoon. She was enthroned with all the pomp and ceremony that has marked the fete held at the College during the last several years.

The fete was postponed from Wednesday afternoon on account of a heavy rain. A large crowd witnessed the affair yesterday, the football bleachers which had been placed on the campus being packed.

Attending Queen Mereca were Misses Etta Trusty, Pauline Manchester, Fern Murray and June Cozine. These young women were selected by their classes to assist in the crowning of the Queen.

Music for the event which was largely attended by the College students and townspeople, was furnished by the College orchestra and the women's chorus. The fete, starting at 4:30 o'clock, lasted a little more than one hour, the various parts of the program following each other in good order and in such a fashion to keep the fete from lasting until dusk as had been the case in former years.

Dr. Ethel J. Saxman, director of physical education for women at the College, and members of her department were in charge of this year's fete.

The program opened with orchestra numbers by the College orchestra, under the direction of Harry O. Hickernell. The queen and her attendants then made their entrance. Little Miss Betty Alice Hosmer and Maurice Womack were the train bearers.

The women's chorus sang "Robin Hood" by William Shields and "Morris Dance," a traditional air. Mary Henderson gave a solo dance and crowned the queen.

Miss Elizabeth Mills, a senior in the College Conservatory of Music, sang "May Morning" (Danza). A number of dances were then given. The first was a snowflakes dance by children of the Franklin school. Those who participated in this dance were:

Bernice Owens, Frances Phares, Grace Whitehead, Jimmie Manley, Maurice Womack, Robert Allen, Edman Bird, George Hahn, Charles Miller, Charles Mordle, Verlin Powers, Junior Somerville, Dale Street, Leroy Wilson, Juanita Beck, Leola Bickett, Eleanor Hartness, Leah Holtzel, Juanita Hilley, Marie Ulmer, Edythe Whaley, and Lillian Wright.

Children of the College demonstration school and the girls of the singing class at the College gave the next two dances, "Raindrops" and "Winds." Then girls of the fifth and sixth grades at the Washington school gave a "Sunbeams" dance. These girls were: Mary Alice Annett, Frances Baker, Mary Butcher, Mary Elise Case, Mildred Clardy, Edith Clark, Esther Crox, Doris Marie Daniels, Gertrude Heaton, Helen Gawn, Mary Ann Hamilton, Vova Holtzel, Dorothy Hooper, Winifred Jantz, Olive Johnson, Helen Edna Layber, Helen Leet, Norma Ruth Logan, Edna Melton, Dorothy McDonald, Marion Musgrave, Grace Murdoch, Lavera Palmer, Edna Rayhill, Laura Phoebe Roseberry, Helene Robey, Bernice Ross, Ellen Seiler, Mary Shannon, Aurea Spencer, Jean St. Clair, Edith Steele, Ethel Steele, Virginia Watt, Julia Mae Woods, and Virginia Workman.

The girls who took part in the "Winds" dance were: Lorene Banks, Ethel Chamberlain, Ruth England, Evelyn Evans, Susie Hankins, Juanita Hinton, Bernice Howard, Katherine Mills, Edith Reynolds, Lena Richardson, Esther Roseberry, Lola Rostock and Georgia Thompson.

A "Rainbow" dance was given by ten eighth grade girls of the Washington school. They were: Gladys Bartram, Boba Butler, Ruth King, Beatrice Leman, Lucy Lloyd, Virginia Leman, Virginia Miller, Arlene Sherman, Mildred Smith and Ruby Leslie Watt.

COLLEGE OATH
"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will revere and obey the College laws and do our best to inculcate a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

GRADUATION

For some sixty-odd students of the College this is undoubtedly their greatest week. After sixteen years of going to school they are about to be graduated from College. This time next week the world will look upon them as educated men and women. This time next year they will have already started to carve their names in the flagstone of life.

The things which have transpired in the sixteen years since they first entered the grade school door are all things of the past now. They have closed one of the books of life, and are now ready to open another; to begin a brand new sheet.

As they open this book, what are their thoughts? The sheet is clean; they must keep it so. As college graduates, they are assumed to be leaders. The world is theirs. Leaders of business, theology, the professions, will come from this graduating class. Opportunity knows no bounds. The sky is the limit.

When this graduating class leaves the doors of S. T. C., for all times as a part of the student body, it leaves with a definite charge. The name of this school, and its honor, must be protected, held inviolate. This is their alma Mater. Let them never forget. Let them never bring dishonor on it. But let them bring to Maryville S. T. C., the fame and the good name which they will also bring to themselves.

Good-bye, Class of 1921! As students, you have been an integral part in the growth of this institution. As alumni, play even a greater part.

New Regulation For Tower Publication

pose shall be accepted in payment at one dollar each. Coupons issued during the summer quarter may be applied toward payment on the book published the preceding May, or that published the following year.

IV. There shall be two faculty advisers to the Tower staff, named by the President of the College—a literary adviser and a business adviser.

V. The publication of the Tower shall be managed by a Tower Staff, composed of eight regular and three associate members.

VI. The members shall be chosen in the following manner:

(a). At some time during the spring quarter the Sophomore class shall meet and nominate five persons from the class for each of the offices of Editor-in-chief and of Business Manager for the next year's Tower. The nominating shall be on the principle of proportional representation, each member of the class voting for three persons on each ballot. The five ranking highest shall be considered the nominees for the office. Two ballots shall be taken, one for each office.

(b). At the same meeting the Sophomore class shall choose, in any manner which they desire, two members from the class to serve on a committee to consider the qualifications of the proposed candidates. This committee shall be composed of the two members just named, the business adviser to the Tower staff, the business adviser to the Sophomore class, and the President of the Student Council, representing the student body at large.

(c). The above named committee shall meet and consider carefully the qualifications of the ten candidates, returning to the Sophomore class for final vote the two nominees for each office which seem best fitted for the position.

(d). At the beginning of the fall term the two faculty advisers to the Tower staff, the President of the Junior class, the President of the Student Council, and the Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager shall meet and nominate the remaining six members of the Tower staff, and the three Sophomore Associate members. This report shall be submitted to the Junior class for confirmation.

(e). The three Sophomores chosen should be outstanding students, selected with the idea that their work on the Tower will enable them to fill responsible positions on the next year's staff.

VII. During the first half of the fall quarter the Editor-in-Chief shall submit to the Council a written statement as to the theme of the book and its general plan. At the same time the Business Manager shall submit a copy of his financial budget. At the beginning of the winter and spring quarters the Editor shall make a report to the Council of the progress of the work on the book, and the Business Manager shall file with the Secretary of the Council and with the Business Manager of the College, copies of his financial statement.

VIII. It is recommended by the Student Council that credit for work on the Tower be given by the College as follows:

For the eight regular members of the Tower Staff, 2.5 hours Activity credit.

For the Sophomore Associates, no credit.

Credit may be lessened in amount or withheld altogether upon the recommendation of the faculty advisers.

Byron Beavers, Editor-in-Chief of the annual published this year says of the plan:

"After considering the Tower regulation as adopted by the Student Council, I sincerely believe that this plan will be an agency of making the Tower a better book: because of the inclusion of Sophomore assistants; the giving of credit to the regular editors; and the democratic but yet selective method of election of the staff members."

Elizabeth Mills, Editor of the 1920 Tower also is in favor of the regulation and says:

"I heartily favor this regulation. For I think that it will make the Tower a student publication in a bigger sense than was formerly possible. I am sure that a plan of this sort would have enabled the staff of last year's book to do better work. I am particularly interested in the recommendation that credit be given, and I hope that this will be possible, for the Tower staff is undoubtedly the busiest group of students in school and should receive this compensation. It is true that each succeeding staff has been able to profit by the mistakes of the preceding year and to improve on the book by many new and attractive features; but a uniform plan such as this, functioning year by year, will, I am sure, make for a higher type of publication, and one that is wholly of the student body."

Warrensburg in Track Triumph Here Saturday

Bearcats Get Third in Triangular Meet.
—Kirkville Cinder Athletes Place Second.—Windy Day.

Warrensburg Teachers College's track team should be a mighty strong contender for the M. I. A. A track and field championship this spring if the outcome of the annual triangular meet held here Saturday between the Maryville, Kirkville and Warrensburg Teachers Colleges is any indication. Tad Reid's team, which can boast of having a decathlon champion, topped the meet here with 88 points leaving only 52 points for the Kirkville Bulldogs and making the Bearcats be satisfied with no more than 24 points.

Maryville counted its 24 points by taking one first, one second, six thirds and four fourths. Wakely was the only Bearcat to place first. He counted 5 points for his school by clearing 11 feet 2 inches in the pole vault. Crane took third in the broad jump; Hollar took a third in the shot put, third in the pole vault and fourth in the discus. Davenport placed third in the 880-yard run, the event in which he holds the record, and third in the 440-yard dash, Joy placed fourth in the high jump and fourth in the javelin. Captain Smith came in fourth in the mile run and third in the two mile, while Burks placed second in the javelin.

Seven conference and triangular meet records were bettered last Saturday afternoon when a strong wind swept the College field from the west. The records made at this time will not stand, however, as they must be made at a conference meet.

Wilson of Warrensburg broke the tape in the 100-yard dash which was clocked at 9.8 seconds. The conference record of 9.9 seconds is held by Brown of Warrensburg. L. Craig of Kirkville broke into the limelight when he cleared the high jump bar at 5 feet 11 inches, breaking the record of 5 feet 10½ inches, held by Barnes of Kirkville. Vail of Kirkville heaved the shot 42 feet 11¼ inches better the conference record of Galloway of Springfield of 42 feet ½ inch.

Vernon Kennedy, Warrensburg star, national decathlon champion, took his first five points when he ran the high hurdles in 15.7 seconds, lowering the record of W. Reynaud of Springfield by 3.10 of a second. He was high point man of the meet with 23 points.

He bettered the broad jump record, when on his last leap he covered 22 feet 6½ inches. The old mark is held by Cherry of Springfield at 88 feet. It took for a minute as if a Bearcat would take first in this event. Frank Crane, who had been getting some poor jumps, on his last trial went 22 feet ¼ inch. It was the best leap made, with only Williams and Kennedy remaining to jump. Williams, however, lowered Crane's hopes when he jumped 22 feet 6 inches and then Kennedy came along for the best leap of his career.

The 220-yard low hurdle record went by the board as Williams covered the distance in 25.2 seconds, and Wilson made the furlong in 21.6. The conference low hurdle record is 26.3 held by Reynaud and the 220-yard dash record is 22.2, made by Brown of Warrensburg.

The last Senior party for this year was in the form of a dinner-dance at the Country Club last Friday night. Plates were laid for sixty. The tables were decorated with spires.

Dora Scheffsky was toastmistress. Toasts were given by Lauretta Riggs, on Four Leaf Clovers, in which she told of various positions already secured by members of the Senior Class; by Ruby Goodvin, on Taboos, in which she told of things prospective teachers should avoid in order to make a success; and by Frank J. Klein.

After the dinner the class sang songs and danced. Yehle's orchestra furnished the music. Since late leave had been granted by Miss Barnard, it was after the usual hour of 10:30 when the party broke up.

Miss Mathers, social sponsor, and Miss Dykes, class advisor, were guests. Members of the senior class present were: Orval Adams, Melvin Akers, Lucy Allen, Richard Baker, Frieda Bennett, Ethel Bostwick, Helen Buchman, Nelle Castle, Mariam Catterson, Harry Clayton, Helen Cottier, Wilson Craig, Winifred Dickey, Dorothy England, Gertrude Garrett, Esther Gile, Ruby Goodvin, Alda Gowen, Mary Hansell, Pauline Hardwick, Cleo Holt, Cecil Jenkins, Loretta Jones, John King, Pauline Manchester, Lula Massie, Clea McCoy, Margaret McMurphy, Thomas Merrigan, Homer Needles, Mrs. H. B. O'Banion, Mrs. Maun Polson, Helen Qualls, Lauretta Riggs, Dora Scheffsky, Elma Scott, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Search, Edith Shoemaker, Cora Smith, Fred Street, Maye Sturm, Merlin Warehime, Burdette Yeo, Frank J. Klein, Genevieve Todd, Charlotte Welchell, Rosella Froman, Clarence Bush, Louise Youngman, Mrs. Harry Clayton, Fern Murry, Harold McClurg.

The Seniors have played as well as worked this year. The first social event, sponsored by the Senior Class, though of interest to the whole school, was Walk Out Day. After a show at the Missouri and a gay parade through the streets, the student body enjoyed a bounteous lunch and an afternoon of dancing at the College building.

In November the class officers arranged a Senior banquet which was held at Residence Hall. This gave all Seniors a chance to develop more class spirit, and made a happy and fitting end to the fall quarter.

Soon after the Christmas vacation a party was held in the library. There were games and stunts for every one, with dancing afterwards.

Soon after, another enjoyable party was held in the library with contests and dancing as the principal features. The last Senior get-together occasion before the breakfast was a dinner-dance at the County Club. The sixty Seniors who attended this banquet enjoyed a plentiful dinner followed by interesting toasts and a jolly "sing". Two hours of dancing brought to an end the last of the class parties, but not to the happy cooperative class spirit of the Seniors of '27.

Class Day is The Big Day of the Commencement week. A day full of activities which will never be forgotten. The events in the day are:

Senior Breakfast
All Seniors will be up in time for breakfast Monday. This will probably be an unusual record in the history of the class. The reason for this unprecedented event is the Senior breakfast which is to be held at eight o'clock, the place to be decided later.

It has been the custom for many years for all members of the Senior Class, the class sponsors, and the President and family to enjoy an outdoor breakfast during the Commencement Week.

The plans for the breakfast are similar to those of the previous years. After the class has met it will be divided into groups and each group will prepare its own breakfast.

The Reception
On Monday afternoon, May 23, President and Mrs. Lamkin will give the annual reception for the Senior Class.

and the faculty. A color scheme of green and white will be carried out in the dining room.

Receiving line: President and Mrs. Lamkin, Dr. and Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Foster.

Assisting in Dining Room: Miss Mather, Miss Dykes, Miss Barnard and Miss Painter.

Misses Leola Miller, Winifred Baker, Sue Hankins, Margaret Sells.

Others assisting: Mrs. Rickenbrode, Miss Hudson, Mrs. Lawrence, Miss Fisher, Miss Souter, Miss Frances Romus and Betty Hosmer.

Class Night
Monday night is class night, and an interesting night it will be. Of course every senior will be on hand, for this is the time which we make our last tour of the campus, visiting all the buildings and places of interest.

At each building a farewell speech will be given by a member of the class. At the gymnasium, "Ted" Search, one of our stars of the "grid" will speak.

The talk at Residence Hall will be given by Ina Wachtel, who, as a "Dorm" girl, will doubtless have to leave it as much as will any of the girls.

Most of the activities will take place in front of the main building. The class gift an original painting by a modern artist will be presented by Florida Moore.

Of course the old tradition of presenting the Senior came to the Seniors of next year will be carried out. The class has added this year its fourteenth ring. It will be presented by Fred Street, the class president, to Kenneth Fouts, president of the Junior Class.

From here we will go and plant our tree, a burr oak. This is another class gift and will be presented by Edith Shoemaker.

Then as we are gathered together for the last time as a group of Seniors we will sing our class songs.

Demonstration to Be Education Beveridge Says

Diplomas Presented to Sixteen Graduates of High School Department of the College Wednesday Morning.

"Education of the next twenty-three years is going to be an education by demonstration," said John H. Beveridge, superintendent of the Omaha public schools to the sixteen members of the graduating class of the high school department at the State Teachers College Wednesday morning. Mr. Beveridge's subject was "Turning the First Quarter." His address concerned itself with an analysis of the important part which communication and transportation have played in the education of the first twenty-five years of this century.

"The question of 'why' is going to be uppermost in the lives of the children of the coming years," Mr. Beveridge continued. He urged that future teachers prepare themselves to explain the "why" of everything, and he indicated that demonstration is the best method of explanation.

Diplomas were presented to the high school department graduates by Uel W. Lamkin, president of the College, following the commencement address.

Thomas Ryan Lawrence of near Maryville was the valedictorian of the 1927 class. His record has been good during his years in the high school department, and his standing was between superior plus and excellent. Salutatory honors went to Miss Thelma Lolita Jackson, also of near Maryville. Her average was superior plus.

Recognition of superior work on the part of Ruth Hinton of Pickering and Eleanor Montgomery of Skidmore was given Wednesday morning. Neither of these students could qualify for honors because they took part of their high school work elsewhere.

The commencement program Wednesday morning was opened with a march, played by Miss Hettie Mae Woodward, College senior. The Rev. W. N. Dewar, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church pronounced the invocation.

Following a violin solo by Miss Dotie Davis, a student of the College, Mrs. Fred Wolters sang two beautiful soprano solos. Mr. Dewar pronounced the benediction following the presentation of diplomas.

In closing his address, Mr. Beveridge charged the graduates always "to be sportsmen. He read 'The Sportsman's Prayer' by Grantland Rice. It follows:

Dear Lord, in the battle that goes on through life,
I ask but a field that is fair.
A chance that is equal with all in the strife,
Thy courage to do and to dare.

And if I may win, let it be by the code,
With my faith and my honor held high,
Lord, teach me to stand by the side of the road,
And cheer as the winners go by.

And Lord, may my shouts be ungrudging and clear,
A tribute that comes from the heart,
And may I not cherish a snarl or a sneer,
Nor play any sniveling part.

Let me say, "There they ride, on whom laurel's bestowed,
Since they played the game better than I.
Let me stand with a smile by the side of the road,
And cheer as the winners go by.

So grant me to conquer, if conquer I can,
By proving my worth in the fray,
But teach me to lose like a regular man,
And not like a craven, I pray.

Let me take off my hat to the warriors who strode,
To victory, splendid and high,
Yea, teach me to stand by the side of the road,
And cheer, as the winners go by.

Kathleen and Kenneth are very much in love with each other, but Carteret, now an old man, feels that he would not be true to his old sweetheart, Mooney, if he allowed her niece to marry the son of the man who had killed her. Dr. Harding tries to help the young couple, but succeeds only in breaking the lifelong friendship that has existed between him and Carteret. After Kenneth leaves to go fight in the World War, Carteret relates to Kathleen what had happened fifty years before. The second act is taken up with this episode.

When Kenneth returns from the war, wounded and shell-shocked, he feels that he cannot ask Kathleen to marry him as he is, so he tries to make her stop loving him. Carteret is so impressed in his manliness and courage that he is ashamed of the hate he has held in his heart all these years, and apologizes to his old friend, Dr. Harding, and to Kenneth, and affects a reconciliation between Kenneth and Kathleen. Although Carteret dies on this same night, the audience is left with a satisfied and not bitter feeling, because he is reunited with his old sweetheart, Mooney.

The pathos of this play touches the heart of the most hardened play-goer, and the comedy is unaffectedly charming. The play has made a great success as a motion picture as well as a drama, when the famous stars, Jane Cowl and Henry Stephenson, appeared in it. It is a royalty play, one that is accepted as having literary merit as well as popularity with the mass.

The characters in the order of their appearance are as follows:

Sara Wayne Mary Esther O'Banion
Mary Clare Ruby Goodvin
John Carteret Gordon Roach
Dr. Owen Harding Orval Adams
Ellen Ethel Bostwick
Kathleen Dunganon Dorothy England
Willis Ainley Wilson Craig
Kenneth Wayne Burdette Yeo

The Stroller

By I. I. I.

For the past four years we have been strolling—up the long walk, out to the park—out to the bleachers in fact any time from the time the red lights are turned off at the Dorm at 6:00 A. M. until they are turned on at night, you may see—them strolling, in pairs, quartette, quintette, sextette, and once in a while octette—some aimlessly, some purposefully, some thoughtfully, and some just strolling.

We have often heard that chickens have a great fear of water but the other day after one of our regular deceptions of hydrogen and oxygen in a combined and liquified form Ma Pierpoint was seen out in front of the Dorm giving "Babe" Daniels a lesson in water wading, all that it lacked from being real was that they never took off this shoes and stockings.

The reason that Frank J. Klein does not have as large a turn over of words per minute as some of the women we know is that his words are too large to be turned over rapidly.

Prof. Cradit had an automobile accident a few nights ago. He was hit down by the tracks on his way out to the Dorm for a little gas. He is still driving around with a smashed Pfander.

As Frank J. Klein was exercising his leadership in Art class this week by inviting the class to leave, Miss DeLuce appeared at the close of his invitation and bid him good-bye.

Tuesday and Wednesday are the days of final stroll that is if some hard hearted Prof. doesn't make us take an examination. I guess that it will be all right if they do, and maybe it will be better for the ones that have had experience at this strolling will be the ones that will be taking the exams and that will give Bob James, Bill McCullough, and Frank J. Klein a chance.

Lizzie Mills and Wilma Robbins have expressed their desire that the slow march down the aisle be replaced by something modern and snappy. They just can't think of moving so slowly when they have been used to rushing down to breakfast three minutes until eight.

Lizzie Mills seems to think that boys are contrary, just because they argue at Student Council meeting.

The gift has caused much debate this year. Some suggested that we buy more benches for our campus but Florida Moore said that the night watchman would not let us use the one we had so she suggested a picture which could be enjoyed as much in daytime as at night.

Dick Baker does not seem to be saddened at the thought of leaving. Some have suggested that the reason is that he has one of his old girls back.

When we take our last stroll down the long walk with our sheepskin tucked under our arm, some hearts will be heavy some light, some heads will be bent, some heads erect with smiling countenance. And why shouldn't they be, some are leaving their best pals and sweethearts, others are thinking that they may be so lucky as to have some good looking man or woman on the faculty where they are going to teach.

To Dear Old Alma Mater

Alma Mater, in the hour of our commencement we pause on thy threshold to offer in simple words a last message of homage, love and praise.

To you, mother of our intellectual selves, we give thanks for the added enchantment given to life; for the real meaning of brotherhood through student activities; for the friendships made; for increased power of vision; for the noble inspiration from the life of President Lamkin; for the interest and unselfish leadership of Miss Dykes and Miss Mather, our class advisers; for the untiring and patient efforts of Miss Dow in so successfully directing the Senior Class Play; and for the treasures of mind we have received from the faculty.

With sweet and refreshing memories in our minds do we think of all the beauty of nature around our beloved campus, of our swaying white birches which have inspired us to purity, our green grove of pines which has inspired us to strength and sturdiness, our lonely tall poplars which have inspired us to upward look... This beauty we sincerely hope will be reflected, at least in part, in our lives.

Alma Mater, thy ministering tasks for us are done. With infinite love and patience you have led us up the toilsome mountainside of learning and silently pointed the way to the Promised Land of Useful Living.

The onward flow of years and greater fullness of life will only make our thanks more heartfelt, our homage deeper, and our lives more abiding.

Truthfully and with feeling we shall always sing:

*Years may dim our recollection, time its change may bring,
Still thy name in fond affection, ever more we sing.*
